02 STRATEGY

One stay, two audiences, multiple formats

Content was localized by audience and platform instead of simply reposting one edit everywhere.

01

Family-first storytelling

Actual family stay with a six-year-old child, focusing on practical decisions families make.

02

Korean market localization

Location, value, room size, breakfast, pool and shopping access framed for Korean travelers.

03

Bilingual global distribution

Dedicated Korean and English short-form edits with different messaging and tone.

04

Original creative production

On-site filming, editing and three original AI-assisted music tracks created for the campaign.

03 DELIVERABLES

8 published content assets

EARLY-DISTRIBUTION NOTE

YouTube Shorts and NAVER Clip were uploaded less than one hour before the snapshot. Their early counts are intentionally not used as campaign KPIs yet.

Metrics are platform-reported and represent an early snapshot, not a final lifetime result.

05 ORIGINAL MUSIC

Three original AI-assisted tracks

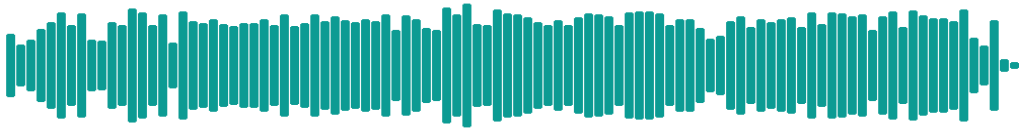

Created specifically to support different storytelling moods across the Hyatt Place content.

Sukhumvit Family Morning

1:12

Warm Thai-bossa inspired instrumental

Built as a calm, family-friendly bed for Korean narration.

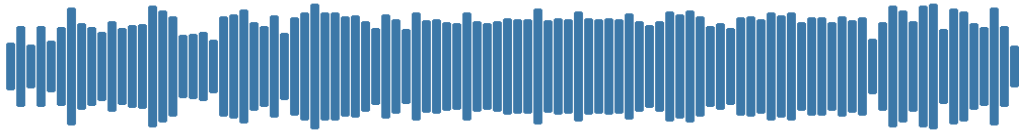

A Little Home in Bangkok

1:10

Emotional Bangkok travel pop

Designed for an international, story-led reel with a warm sense of home.

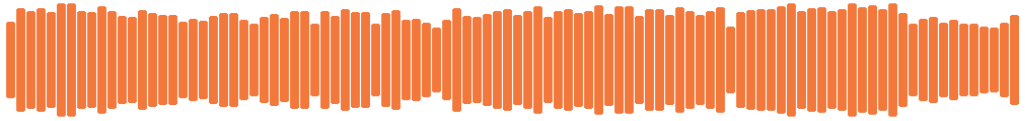

Sabai Sabai Bangkok

1:05

Upbeat summer K-pop / tropical pop

A brighter, energetic travel track with Thai-language flavor and “Sabai Sabai” as a hook.

Music files were created as original campaign assets and supplied separately from the published posts.

06 NEXT CHAPTER

A stay our family genuinely enjoyed

“Our family was genuinely satisfied with the entire stay, and our daughter especially enjoyed the experience.”

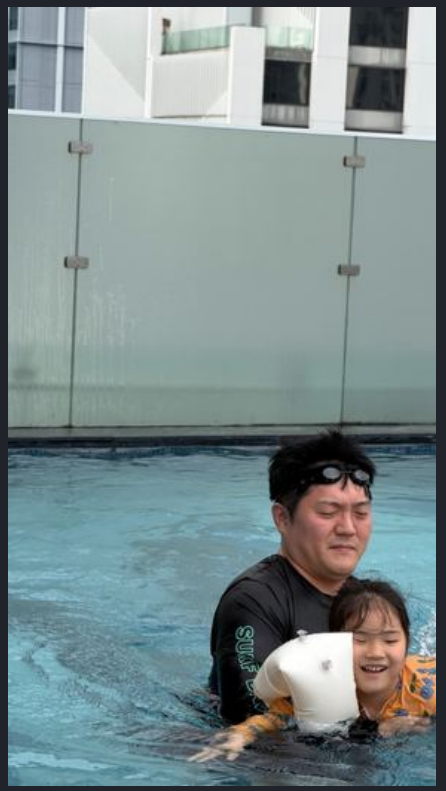

LOOKING AHEAD

January 2027 - daughter's birthday trip to Bangkok

For the next visit, I would be excited to explore a broader Hyatt-focused family travel project - potentially combining Hyatt Place Bangkok Sukhumvit 1 with another Hyatt property in Bangkok.

The idea is to show different Hyatt brand experiences within one family journey, while continuing Korean-market storytelling and global English content.

Thank you, Kaew and the Hyatt Place Bangkok Sukhumvit 24 team, for the warm hospitality and for making this collaboration meaningful to our family.
